◆ Terra Andina, a Chilean wine producer, introduces the 2007 Carmenere to its portfolio. The wine is 100% Carmenere and offers concentrated plum flavors with hints of spicy cedar and cloves. On the palate, the wine's balanced flavors and rich body are enhanced by noticeable yet soft tannins. About 20% of the wine had contact with toasted French and American oak for two months. It pairs well with roasted meats, hamburgers and dishes with mushrooms.

Terra Andina is imported and owned by the Claro Group; the wine carries a suggested retail price of $8.99.
